

BRITISH SECTION

Reading List

CLASS: Students entering 3GCSE in September 2023

Dear students,

We look forward to welcoming you to the British Section in September. As all your subjects will now be taught and assessed in English, we would like you to read 4 of these titles over the summer. There are some options within the titles outlined on the opposite page, but you must complete this reading before school starts in September. We encourage you to read even more than the minimum. You must read at least one from each category. Do not select books you have already read or studied please.

When students return to school in September they may be preparing a short review on one book from one of these categories – you will not know until September what category will be selected.

GCSE English Language and English Literature are challenging subjects. You will need to ensure that your reading, comprehension and writing skills are strong, so reading regularly this summer is an effective start to your GCSE career. Happy reading!

Kind regards,

British Section English Department
